which would startle the country and cover the Republican administration with irretrievable disg are and infamy. His own party took no stock in the vast suspicions with which he entertained himself, but a Republican Senate humored him in the bursuit of what seemed a harmless hobby, and gave him the fullest authority, with all possible facilities, to make a thorough overhauling of the Treasury Department and its accounts. It is the Argent and provided the country with this investigation that he has chiefly concerned himself, but it is the largest snake few days ago. Last Thursday as I was coming home with another boy a snake faw days ago. Last Thursday as I was coming home with another boy a snake ran across the path and I killed it. I have not seen any rattle snakes yet. There is a snake here called the Bull snake. I saw one the other day. It is the largest snake in this country. Somotimes they are found seven and eight feet long. When in this country. Sometimes they are found seven and eight feet long. When they are struck and hurt they make a like a bull. There is another snake called the King snake. It is about the size of the prairie rattle snake and it is speckeled with bright green spots. Some ecople say they are called King snakes be ause they can whip all other snakes Other people say they are so called be ause they have a spot on their head like a king's crown.

This is the greatest country for bugs and insects I ever saw. Also ants of every discription, roaches and wood ticks. The last are about the size of a chintz bug, and are mostly found in the timber. When they get on a person they bury their heads in the skin and suck blood till they swell up to the size of a big beam and are as tough as rubber. When you pull them off they sometimes leave their heads in the skin, which often makes a very bad sore. The files up a wful bad and seem to be most of the blue bottle kind. There is another insect, the chigger, the worst of all. It is a little red mite that you can hardly see, It is found on grass and weeds. When it gets on a person it goes right out of sight into the skin and raises a welt like a flea, but unlike the latter, it keeps stinging away and hurts like a bee sting. There are a great many birds in this country that I never saw or heard of at home, and many of them are very pretty, and some of them are splendid singers. There are plenty of wild mocking birds here. I know where there is a nest, and I am going to get the young ones if nobody else does. I can get from one dollar up to five for young singers. A boy that lives across the street irom us has two. The largest birds out here are eagles and buzzards. There are lots of buzzards, and they don't seem to be much affraid of you, because nobody is allowed to shoot or disturb them. I have seen some prairic chickens, but not many. There are lots of partridges, rubbits and red squirrels. There is not much fruit here this summer except grapes, and there will be plenty of them. Corn is out in sasely but not all effect. This is the greatest country for bugs and here this summer except grapes, and there will be plenty of them. Corn is out in tassels, but not all of it. I expect there will be plenty of melons this year. Our melons did not come up well. Most of the wheat about here has been cut and will soon be ready to thresh.

There is going to be a grand Fourth.
There will be a match game of ball be-tween the Paola boys and some other . Almost every evening the young play ball and we have lots of fun. 11 dark till eight o'clock. There plendid Fair grounds here; there is a every year; it has not come yet this air every year; it has not come yet this ear. They are training horses here now or the Fair next fall. It rained here neary every night last week, and the creeks we very high. The Wea creek having no bridge as I know of, it was impossible to ford it, and nobody could get out to the farm. The creek is lower now. The house is pretty creek is lower now. The house is pretty done. The plasterers are at work on it. house is done. The was a lot of water in he cellar but we got it nearly all out. I expect it is nearly full now. We have ots of fun fishing and swimming. I have a good many chickens. One hen is setting on duck eggs, another will be off to-morrow and one more is setting. My pup got run over the other day by a wagon but was all right the next day. It only

On Tuesday they had exercises on Observatory Hill under a pine they expected the pine of the prize of the pine of the prize of the pine of the pi tree. There they smoked the pipe of peace and then broke the pipe against the tree. The next night there was a concert by the Germania Band, of Boston. We have been fishing twice since we came, and the boys have been swimming several times. I never saw such grand forests as they have up here. They are entirely free from undergrowth, and the pine needles make it such slippery walking that you can hardly stand up. Away in the distance we can see the mountains, and if you go down to the Connecticut river at any time you can see hun-fully stand up. SENATOR HENRY His Coat Taken Off and His-Jacket Well

Senator Davis, of West Virginia, has served at least one very useful purpose. He has been the means of disclosing the and giving employment to about 2,500. weakness of one of the lines of attack contemplated in the Democratic plan of the has just been filled by the Edgar Thomson stilled for saveral years with a sort been afflicted for several years with a sort ern Railway. of monomania on the subject of Treasury d monomania on the subject of the country and the country including coounts, and what he calls frauds in the native ore only, which costs, including freesury Department. As an indication of the revival of busithere was nothing upon which to found a charge or even a suspicion of official corruption or dishonesty. But he would not be convinced. He insisted that the Treasury had been plundered, and that a thorough investigation would disclose a condition of rottenness in the Department subtle would startle the country and cover nor paned in so often the wrong fish, but in his way he has furnished a good deal of quiet amusement by his nervous anxiety, and the obstinate persistency with which he clung to his delusion.

Until within a few days there has been a prevailing belief among his colleagues that he was quite sincere in his hobby, and that he did actually believe his charges against the Treasury department were measurably true. He had a way of dropping mysterious hints about the work of his committee, and the things they had pretty nearly found out and would shortly astonish the world with that was very much in Glover's vein, and never failed to amuse the Senate; the more so because he seemed so deeply in earnest about the matter himself, and no one else, even of his own party, attached the slightest importance to his investigation or its results. But it now turns out, through a running debate in the Senate last week brought on by his own eagerness and the indiscretion of the imdsive Saulsbury, that it was part of the emocratic plan to use charges which Democratic plan to use charges wind have not been substantiated, and asser-tions which cannot be proved, in the prosecution of the campaign of 1880. In a brief but very able and powerful speech in the Senate last Wednesday, Senator Windom contrasted the political, financial Windom contrasted the political, financial and industrial condition of the country under Democratic and Republican rule. His array of facts and figures so stirred up Mr. Saulsbury that that Senator ventured to attempt a reply, in which, after glorifying the Democracy and making the bold avowal that he was proud of every page of its history, he proceeded to arraigh the Republican party for corruption, exterior and robbery. To this loose expectoration Mr. Windom answered with the statement that three years ago he asked the Senator from Delaware to name a single individual, a single Republican official, whom the thirty-three Democratic investigating committees had proved to have stolen one dollar from this Government. He failed to do so at that time; he has had three years to think it over." And said Mr. Windom, "I repeat the question." This touched Senator Davis' hobby so closely—the Delaware Senator being stumped by it—it brought him to his feet with his old charge of alterations in the statement of the public debt amounting to "many millions." "I wish I were at liberty," he said, "to state at this time what has occurred and what has been proved by Treasury officials."

This sort of insinuation has become a habit with Mr. Davis, and is ordinarily little regarded; but in this instance Mr. Windom proposed to bring him to book. He accordingly asked unanimous consent and industrial condition of the country nortal to imagine that this is not so dread ully hot a summer after all.

Windom proposed to bring him to book He accordingly asked unanimous consent that Mr. Davis be permitted to state any thing that has been proved in the two years' investigation. Mr. Davis alone obyears' investigation. Mr. Davis alone ob-jected. He preferred to indulge in insin-nations, without undertaking to prove or justify them. The most infamous charges had been made against members of the Republican party, and when the demand was made for a single specification the ac-cusers slunk away under the cover of the secrecy of the committee room. In the dis-cussion which followed and which followed secrecy of the committee room. In the drussion which followed, and which to cussion which followed, and which tool

The weather is very hot up here at this time, though the night we got here (6th of June) we were almost frozen. Since Monday we have been attending the commencement exercises at tending the commencement exercises at the number of the underly of the search and institutions for campaign purposes. Senator Allison accordingly offered a resolution ordering that all the testimony pulse the united opposition of Democratic Senators. This resolution met the united opposition of Democratic Senators. This plan is to take up and use the old worn-out and exploded charges of the West Virginia Senator for campaign purposes, without permitting the public to know the facts or read the testimony upon which they are based. The Republican demand is that all the facts be made known and all the testimony published. Messrs. Windom and Allison made short work with the two or three feeble offers of specifications from Davis, Saulsbury and and another to bring forward the testimony by which alone the truth can be assertained. The debate has disclosed the dishonest purpose of the party and the utter insincerity of Senator Davis. He has made it plain that, whatever may have been his original motive, he is actuated now by nothing but a desire to make capital for his party, and that by no fair or honest method.

No man can do a good job of work, preach a good sermon, try a lawsuit well, doctor a patient, or write a good article when he feels miserable and dull, with sluggish brain and unsteady nerves, and none should make the attempt in such a condition when it can be so easily and cheaply removed by a little Hop Bitters.
